YOUR GUIDE TO WEDDINGS, HONEYMOONS
AND ROMANCE IN THE PACIFIC ISLANDS

FIJI

A world of possibilities

There is such a diverse range of romantic options in Fiji, first a couple need to sit down together and work out what they really want. Once the decision has been made, Fiji will deliver. From small, intimate out-of-the-way locations to big, busy mainland resorts, Fiji has a place where your fairytale will come true.

Tying the knot

The legal age to wed in Fiji is 18 years. An application for a marriage licence must be made in person to the nearest Registrar Office or District Court in Fiji at least three working days prior to the marriage. Please note, weddings may not be performed on Sundays or public holidays.

The wedding couple will need to provide the following:

- Original birth certificates
- Valid passports
- Divorce papers (if applicable)
- Death certificate (if previous spouse is deceased)
- Single Status Certificate or Certificate of
- No Legal Impediment

The easiest way for us to guide you through Fiji's numerous romantic destinations, is by breaking them up into different regions. We've covered island groups such as the Mamanucas and Yasawas, we take a drive down the Coral Coast, we cover the popular area of Denarau Island, plus we look at some idyllic spots that are well off the beaten track.

THE MAMANUCAS

This might seem a tad strange. You fly three or four hours to a tropical island, only to transfer to another smaller island once you get there! But when you see the beauty on offer in Fiji's Mamanuca Group, it all makes perfect sense!

It's almost impossible for words to describe the sheer beauty. And even a good photo can struggle sometimes. Small green dots, scattered across the bluest of ocean. White sand beaches, palm trees swaying in the wind. It's your classic picture postcard and quite honestly, it's about as romantic as you could hope for.

To be fair to the other parts of Fiji, the Mamanuca Group isn't the only drop dead gorgeous set of islands. However, they are definitely the most accessible. A 'rock-star' helicopter transfer will have you beachside in 10-15 minutes and even a ferry ride is only 60 minutes or so.

Wedding or honeymoon? You've come to right place. And if you're the type of couple that likes to stay active, there is any number of water-based activities to enjoy. Scuba diving and surfing is world-class in this part of Fiji. Most resorts come with a fleet of jetskis that you can whip around on. Plus there are all the regular activities such as snorkelling, stand-up paddle boarding and kayaking.

PLACES TO STAY

Castaway Island Resort

If you were going to pick a spot to build a Mamanuca resort it would be hard to go past the location of Castaway Island Resort. Which is exactly what happened in 1966 when Castaway became the very first resort in the Mamanuca Islands. When you arrive, you do feel a sense of history, one reason why visiting couples soon feel at home here. The swaying palm trees, beautiful blue water and white sand beach are the perfect setting for a special occasion. And the friendly staff are seasoned experts at planning a wedding and honeymoon to remember.

Likuliku Lagoon Resort

Maintaining an impeccable standard of service comes down to getting the smallest details right. Likuliku Lagoon Resort is one of those rare resorts that has achieved this feat. And has done so over a long period of time. It's impressive collection of awards is testament to that. For couples the attraction is obvious. Signature overwater bures, a first class spa and dining options, and a boutique adults-only vibe that makes romance inescapable. Likuliku has a number of 'off-the-shelf' wedding packages to choose from, but these can all be tailored to suit. And afterwards, why would you go anywhere else? Likuliku is set up for a dreamy honeymoon too.

Lomani Island Resort

If you thought the name Lomani sounded romantic, you'd be spot on. Lomani is the Fijian word for love. The boutique adults-only haven is perfectly suited to small, intimate weddings, which can take place at the secluded Picnic Point Bure or even on a small sand island that sits offshore (no onlookers here). Either way the bride, groom and guests will be in for a treat. Because the resort has just 30 rooms, the atmosphere is peaceful and the service is personal.

Staff will know you by name and vice versa. And if a couple should feel like mixing things up, they can bike along to Plantation Island Resort and Musket Cove Resort, which share the island with Lomani.

Malolo Island Resort

You can literally paddle from Likuliku to its sister resort Malolo Island Resort. Sitting just around the headland, on yet another fine swathe of white Fijian sand, Malolo Island Resort is a magic spot for weddings. In particular, island weddings that include the whole family from the kids up. They have family friendly accommodation options, plus one of Fiji's best kid's club programmes. A couple's favourite is the classic beach wedding as the golden sun comes down on the distant horizon. At that moment there will be nowhere else you'd rather be.

Plantation Island Resort

If you had doubts whether an island wedding could take place on a wallet-friendly budget, Plantation Island Resort proves that it can. Sitting on the sands of gorgeous Malolo Lailai Island, Plantation has a location to match anywhere in Fiji, and a wedding package to suit anyone – from simple celebrations all the way through to grand all-inclusive weddings that come with absolutely everything. Couples can choose from a variety of themes, such as tropical, tribal or boho romance.

They also have a range of beauty services so the bride can look her very best. They even have Hens and Bucks ideas (what guy wouldn't enjoy half a day of deep-sea fishing to calm the nerves). In a nutshell, Plantation Island Resort does it all.

SIX SENSES FIJI

Six Senses Fiji

The Six Senses brand has built its reputation through Asia, Europe, the Middle East and the Indian Ocean, in large part through their commitment to sustainable luxury in remarkable out-of-the-way locations. In Fiji they've stayed true to this mantra, something eco-conscious couples will lap up. A yoga pavilion overlooking the ocean, personalised wellness packages, organic cuisine (wherever possible), zero plastic bottle waste – all wrapped up with five-star villas, a flawless beach and golden sunsets. Yes, Six Senses do romance and they do it well.

Tokoriki Island Resort

At Tokoriki Island Resort, their version of romance is very much about relaxed island luxury with a personal touch. Professional, polished and at the same time, friendly and fun. The maximum number of guests on the island at any one time is 72, but somehow every staff member will manage to remember your name. The villas are all absolute beachfront. They sit amongst lush meticulously maintained gardens that instantly puts you at ease. And the beautiful foliage provides a natural screen between each villa, so you can sit back on the deck, or dip in the plunge pool and not see another soul all day. In front of each villa there's a private track to the beach, which means guests never have to walk past their neighbour's villa. In other words peace and privacy is guaranteed. The only real downside is sooner or later, you have to leave.

VOMO ISLAND RESORT

Talk to anyone who has stayed at Vomo Island Resort and don't be surprised if they will say it is their favourite Fijian resort. This five-star private island simply does not put a foot wrong.

The setting is drop dead gorgeous, even by Fijian standards. The service is impeccable, the rooms are of the highest quality, and so is the sumptuous cuisine (which changes daily). The resort has its own dedicated adults-only space at the western tip of the island.

The Rocks restaurant and bar is also the best place on the island to watch the sunset. And from late January 2019, a new infinity pool will create a private island beach club feel for adult guests. There is no better place to spend the day or evening.

HOW TO GET TO THE MAMANUCA ISLANDS

Making your way to the Mamanucas is very simple. The most popular method of transfer is catching a South Sea ferry from Port Denarau. They have multiple departures during the day. There are a number of private water taxi services that can be booked too, such as Mamanuca Express and SeaFiji. If your budget can stretch, flying by helicopter or sea plane is the other option. The views are amazing and you'll be get there in around 10-15 minutes. Island Hoppers and Pacific Island Air are experienced operators.

YASAWA ISLANDS

On Fiji's Western border, north of the Mamanucas is the Yasawa Islands, where you and your partner will enter a bubble of tranquillity and beauty that will set the scene for an unforgettable romantic holiday.

Just 30 minutes by seaplane or a couple of hours by ferry (depending on which island you are visiting) the beauty of this island group lies in its isolation and authenticity, there is no shopping or traffic here, just the traditional island way of life, and a smattering of resorts – ranging from simple and more rustic offerings to five star accommodation.

Once limited to visiting cruise ships, where passengers could only admire the pretty islands from a distance, tourists were first allowed to step foot on the islands from the 1950s which marked the start of an eco-tourism initiative that has resulted in a honeymooners dream destination.

If you come here by boat your romantic adventure will begin before you've arrived at your destination. The Yasawa Flyer makes its way to the Yasawas once a day and cruising into these picturesque islands will set the scene for what is to come - beauty and more beauty!

Once at your resort of choice, you can enjoy the turquoise water teeming with tropical fish and colourful coral, take a tour of the local villages, get involved in water sports or bush walks or simply lie in a hammock and bask in the peace and laid-back lifestyle that comes when you get away from it all.

No visit to the Yasawas is complete without a day trip to the limestone caves of Sawa-i-lau where you can float your way inside the incredible natural wonder, gaze up at the tall limestone walls or hold each other's hand tight and follow your guide through the entry point into the more exciting second cave! Hollywood producers considered these caves the perfect spot to film Brooke Shield's famous rock scene in the 1980s romantic film, The Blue Lagoon, just as you will deem the Yasawas the perfect spot for your romantic holiday.

PLACES TO STAY

Blue Lagoon Resort

Blue Lagoon Resort is set on the white sand beach of the beautiful, remote Nacula Island. This resort has traditionally designed rooms that blend into the natural, relaxed ambience of the island creating the ideal destination for a romantic, relaxing holiday. Choose from a picturesque beachfront villa where you can wake to the sound of the sea, or a garden villa, which offers a private, tranquil sanctuary. Both offer private open-air bathrooms and cool, air conditioned rooms where you can take respite from the sunshine. Snorkel straight off the beach, spend time in the pool and its accompanying bar or relax together in the hammocks or beachfront loungers. The resort offers fishing, village visits as well as bush walks, yoga and crafts. Run mostly by locals, you will leave here feeling rejuvenated and relaxed, having had an authentic Yasawas experience.

Mantaray Resort

For ocean loving couples Mantaray Resort is simply bliss. Set amongst vibrant coral reefs, with a dive team on site, you will experience a romantic adventure together here you will not forget. Swim with the manta rays, or make the most of the perfect, shallow diving conditions to learn to scuba dive. Or simply relax on the hammocks, swim in the pristine marine reserve, and meet new friends at the regular entertainment each evening.

Mantaray is a relaxed, rustic resort which offers accommodation ranging from backpackers to bures but couples wanting a deluxe experience can choose a beachfront villa and retreat to a piece of paradise, with a luxury outdoor bathroom, spacious living and sleeping area and patio. Be sure to ask the Mantaray team, where the private back beach is - here you will have the best sunset swim of your trip!

Private picnic on a different beach every day

One of the special things about staying in Fiji's northern Yasawa Islands is the serenity that comes with having few neighbours, unspoilt tropical islands and being surrounded by turquoise waters. This also means pristine uninhabited beaches abound! Yasawa Island Resort & Spa has exclusive access to 11 white sand private beaches and offers guests the opportunity to picnic on a different beach every day of their stay.

The resort's New Zealand Marketing Representative, Richard Hankin, says "The Beach Picnics are something truly unique to Yasawa. The choice is theirs and its all included in our daily tariff."

Blue Lagoon Cruises, Fiji Princess

For something really special jump on board The Fiji Princess for a three, four or seven night mini-cruise run by Blue Lagoon Cruises. This is an intimate, romantic way to see the Yasawas together, accommodating only 68 passengers. This pretty little cruise ship will take you to stunning islands, with a maximum of four hours cruising a day so there is plenty of time to explore. Finish your day with sunset cocktails served on the top deck, followed by a delicious dinner served on board. Be sure to revisit the top deck at night and lie under the stars before returning to your cute little cabin to be rocked to sleep by the ocean.

During the four and seven night cruise, the boat stops at its own private beach - Nanuya Lailai. Once anchored you can make the most of the transfer boats, to explore the island at your leisure. The exceptionally friendly crew provide guided bush walks, snorkelling trips to coral reefs or grab a paddleboard or kayak and explore the lagoon, just the two of you.

If land-based activities are on your agenda, you can watch the lovo being prepared for dinner, challenge each other to some beach volleyball or relax on the sun loungers and make the most of the beach bar to toast your romantic adventure. The day culminates in a kava ceremony, lovo dinner on the beach and a visit from local villagers who perform traditional dance and bring their beautiful crafts, so you can take home a piece of paradise to remember your romantic holiday.

Paradise Cove Resort

Although Paradise Cove Resort is just as popular with families as it is with couples, the layout has been designed so that both can enjoy the resort independently. The 'adults-only' side of the resort features "The Cove". A very short walk from the resort's main bar, restaurant and family pool, this grown-ups refuge feels miles away. With two pools, a "boat" bar and a menu of delicious snacks to choose from, couples can quite happily stay there all day long, without a single child within earshot. The couples accommodation is also located in and around The Cove, while the family villas are positioned on the other side of the resort.

For the ultimate in peace and privacy, there are four self-contained two-bedroom Beach Houses that sit on a completely separate island just across a small channel. To access the main resort, guests simply pick up the phone and a boat will be there within a matter of minutes. Being a boutique resort, Paradise Cove is idyllic for intimate weddings, and of course honeymoons.

CORAL COAST

Coral Coast locals like to think of their beautiful stretch of coast as the 'real Fiji'. A place where visitors can come and enjoy the comforts of quality resorts, but also connect with the people that have called the Coral Coast home for many hundreds of years. For couples, wedding parties and honeymooners, it means they get the best of both worlds. Depending on how much time a couple might have, there are numerous highlights. A trip to Sigatoka, the Coral Coast's biggest township is fun and fascinating at the same time. Stroll the busy streets, do a spot of shopping, grab a bite and really just mix and mingle.

For the couple that prefer activities at faster pace there's the Sigatoka River Safari. Sit back buckle up and let your jet boat pilot take you on the ride of a lifetime. The vast Sigatoka Sand Dunes are fun to visit. And a groom and his mates can bond over 18 holes pre-or-post wedding at Natadola Bay Championship Golf Course.

PLACES TO STAY

Yatule Resort and Spa

Relaxed, intimate and sitting on arguably the most picturesque bay on Viti Levu, Yatule Resort and Spa promises a first class boutique experience. The Natadola Beach locale is hard to beat. A couple can simply kick back and gaze out across the bay at surfers catching waves, horse-riding on the beach and local fishermen in small kayaks catching their daily quota. As you can imagine, this most idyllic spot makes for a dream wedding. And with just 36 bures on-site, the bride, groom and wedding party will feel like they have the whole place to themselves.

Hideaway Resort and Spa

As the name suggests, Hideaway Resort and Spa is another secluded spot on the Coral Coast. The resort is a favourite with wedding couples and it has gone the extra mile for them, designing and building a dedicated wedding bure that creates an authentic Fijian experience. The resort has a variety of wedding packages available, the one you choose will really depend on the number of guests you invite and the size your budget. Regardless of the your pick, Hideaway has an in-house wedding coordinator who will ensure everything on the day runs to plan.

Crusoe's Retreat

If off-the-beaten track is on your romance travel brief, Crusoe's Retreat could be just the hidden gem you're looking for. Tucked away in its own private paradise, about 45 minutes' drive past the town of Sigatoka, this laid-back resort is a real toes-in-the-sand escape. Zero stress and 100 percent authentic. (Crusoe's was Fiji's very first resort and it shares close ties with the local village, meaning guests feel very much part of the local community – rather than just regular visitors to a resort).

While the journey to get there might be a little longer than some, committing to an extra hour or so is worth that getting-away-from-it-all feeling once you arrive. And when a couple does arrive, the welcoming resort staff will take care of absolutely everything.

They're well-schooled in the art of wedding planning and can add all the personal touches a couple could want, think local village choir, soft ukulele strumming and traditional meke performances. Which means that no two wedding ceremonies are the same. The resort can cater to wedding parties from two to 60, which also suits most overseas couples.

Once the big day is done, Crusoe's is a great place to stick around for the honeymoon too. The resort's rustic beach bures are a beautiful place to call home after days spent exploring the island's sun-drenched shores. Active couples will be in their element with amazing scuba diving packages, zip line tours, jet boat safaris and all many more tours on offer. Or for a day of indulgence, a couple can always just stay put and be pampered at Crusoe's Coco Spa.

Ready to experience the real Fiji?

Bula and welcome to Crusoe's Retreat - Fiji's very first resort, where you'll arrive as a guest and leave as a friend.

Our honeymoon at Crusoe's was nothing short of incredible - stunning location, activities galore, epic beach bar, quirky bures and beautiful staff who went above and beyond to make us feel welcome. We truly immersed ourselves in the Fijian culture and didn't wear shoes for the entire week. It was perfect.

DENARAU ISLAND

If an effortless wedding or honeymoon is your calling, the resort enclave of Denarau Island is the place to go. The proximity to Nadi International Airport is a big plus – you can both be sipping cocktails poolside less than 30 minutes after you clear customs. Yes it's a busy vibe, and you won't experience the sense of adventure you'll get on an outer island, but that's not the point.

Couples love Denarau because of its vibrant buzz. There is always something going on, and you have the option of wandering from resort to resort, sampling the numerous dining and entertainment options.

THE ADULTS ESCAPE

When you choose Denarau for your romantic occasion, you do so knowing this string of resorts are popular with families. Having said that, many of the properties have created dedicated adult spaces, places where a couple can find a peaceful spot, away from the fun and games that kids enjoy. On Denarau, two of the best spots to escape are the purpose-designed adults-only havens of Waitui Beach Club at Sofitel Fiji Resort and Spa (undergoing refurbishment from January to April 2019), and Koro at Hilton Fiji Beach Resort and Spa. At each one you can simply lie back on the lounge, cocktail in hand, book close-by, snack on delicious bites and dip in the pool whenever you need to cool down.

SHERATON FIJI RESORT

RADISSON BLU RESORT

PLACES TO STAY

Sheraton Fiji Resort

If you were going to pick the most romantic spot to get married on Denarau Island, Sheraton Fiji Resort’s magnificent beachside chapel would be at (or near) the top of the list. Floor to ceiling picture windows frame sweeping ocean views, and if a couple choose the popular sunset wedding, the chapel will be filled with a romantic red light. In a word, it’s amazing.

Being a large resort, there are plenty of other options to tie the knot too – go barefoot on the beach or maybe ballroom formal. The other advantage of a wedding at the Sheraton is they can cater to wedding parties of virtually any size. It’s unlikely you’ll have 800 people along for your big day, but if you did, this resort could quite easily handle the occasion.

Radisson Blu Resort

If you’d like to say ‘I do’ in Fiji, Radisson Blu Resort is another place that boasts endless wedding options. As soon as you step inside the resort you’ll see the first signature wedding location, Radisson’s cascading waterfall and grass lawn. A beautiful backdrop indeed. But then so is the Vei Domoni lawn (meaning romance in Fijian) that holds a wedding party of up to 35.

The lawn overlooks the beach, but it’s surrounded by tropical foliage that provides privacy for a couple and their guests. The resort’s ballroom provides an indoor setting if that’s what is required or the weather gods don’t co-operate. Otherwise, Radisson Blu Resort is a brilliant place for couples to kick back. Particularly reclining by the adults-only pool with friendly wait staff bringing you whatever beverage you desire!

If you’re the kind of couple that likes to think outside the square, all you need to do is start looking outside the main tourist hotspots. Going the extra mile will certainly bring its rewards and add a whole new dimension to your special occasion. Here a just a few picks to get you started.

OFF THE BEATEN TRACK

If you're the kind of couple that likes to think outside the square, all you need to do is start looking outside the main tourist hotspots. Going the extra mile will certainly bring its rewards and add a whole new dimension to your special occasion. Here are just a few picks to get you started.

Garden Island Resort, Taveuni

Imagine waking up to panoramic ocean views and being lulled to sleep by the sound of waves in the evening. This is the experience to be enjoyed amongst the lush surroundings of Garden Island Resort on Taveuni. This is a back to basics style of romantic experience. Oh so beautiful, but very down to earth.

Couples will enjoy true quality time, regardless of whether they're celebrating a wedding or honeymoon. There is also plenty to keep a couple occupied – the resort spa has a long list of treatments, and there's even a nine hole golf course. The resort also provides couples with a wide variety of tour options, such as the hike to Tavoro Falls, and a visit to the Waitavala rock waterslide.

Royal Davui Island

This tiny gem of an island is home to just 16 luxury villas, each one carefully positioned for absolute privacy. For a couple searching for pure peace, Royal Davui Island is 5-star Fiji at its best. Each villa has its own private plunge pool, so it's tempting to just stay where you are and soak up the views. And if you're really feeling like moving, there are some splendid snorkelling spots right out in front.

The resort offers all-inclusive dining with the menu changing daily. And the Davui Spa has teamed up with Pure Fiji to create a range of luscious treatments that will have you drifting off in a state of bliss. Royal Davui Island Resort sits around 15 km off the south coast from Pacific Harbour, inside the spectacular Beqa Lagoon.

Qamea Resort and Spa

Qamea Resort and Spa is another place for couples to escape the world, while enjoying all the comforts of a premium Fijian resort. Getting there is certainly an adventure. First catch a connecting flight from Nadi to the 'garden island' of Taveuni. Then travel by road to a remote beach where you'll be picked up by boat and whisked away (in just 10 minutes) to the resort.

Welcome to paradise. Home to just 17 luxuriously appointed beachfront villas and bures, this is a place of peaceful bliss. When it comes to weddings, the resort has three packages to choose from, however, these can be tailored by the on-site co-ordinator. And after, well, just stay where you are and enjoy a dream honeymoon.

Bula Bride's essential Fiji honeymoon tips

If you've been dreaming of white sand and blue ocean for your honeymoon and are looking to enjoy some well-deserved couple-time together after the wedding madness is over, there is no shortage of idyllic options in the Fiji Islands.

In fact, narrowing down the choice can sometimes be hard and leave you wondering if you have made the right decision. Thankfully, Fiji is beautiful anywhere you go, but as a honeymoon is a very special type of holiday it's a good idea to do your research and think about what will make it truly special.

Here are a few tips to plan the perfect honeymoon:

1. Plan it together

Will it be relaxing on a beach with a cocktail in hand or will it be snorkelling and diving to your hearts content? Do you want to splurge and go luxury or are you feeling the pinch after the wedding? The style of your honeymoon should reflect in the location and resort you book, so agree on the key priorities in advance and make sure you book in a location that matches what you are looking to get out of the experience.

2. Short on time?

If you only have a week or so, Fiji is the ideal honeymoon location as you can reach it from most Australian or New Zealand major cities on one flight within 3-4 hours. However some resorts in Fiji then require an additional journey by way of flight, ferry or extensive drive, so consider any additional travel time and your flight times if your stay will be under seven days.

3. Use a specialist travel agent

Your honeymoon is a once in a lifetime trip so you want to get it right. Engage the services of a destination travel agent or honeymoon specialist that is familiar with Fiji to make sure your trip runs smoothly. You'll get great advice on choosing your resort, personalised service and attention to detail to ensure your trip is a breeze from take-off to the first cocktail! After a busy wedding your honeymoon should be a relaxing and stress-free experience and a good travel agent will make this happen. And in the event anything goes wrong, someone experienced will help you deal with it quickly and get everything back on track so the trip is still amazing.

Michelle Cheer

Cheer Wedding Photography

How long have you been a wedding photographer for?

I've been capturing and documenting weddings part-time since 2011. Demand grew and I went full time in 2012.

What made you decide to specialise in this form of photography?

I'm a Libra and a hopeless romantic. I've always been in love with love and I knew that if I had to choose something for work and really stick to it, it would have to be something that I was truly passionate about. I loved taking photos but not taking just any photos, I truly wanted to capture and document beautiful moments that would otherwise be gone forever.

Do you have any special qualifications, training or mentoring?

I have a Communications Degree from the Auckland University of Technology in New Zealand, however I'm entirely self-taught in photography and business. Initially I was putting in 80+ hours a week to teach myself so many aspects of being a photographer plus managing a business. The more I taught myself and the more I pushed, more work came in. It was amazing!

What questions should the bride and groom ask photographers to ensure they get the photo album they want?

Have you got an actual album or sample that I can look at?

What is the difference between a Photo Album and a Photo Book?

How many images can I submit?

Can I add extra pages and images?

Do some couples only want video? How many want both formats?

These days I've noticed a lot more couples wanting both photography and cinematography and budgeting for both as well.

Can you provide any tips to help them prepare for the shoot?

Although it may sound cheesy I'd ask the couple to spend sometime posing, hugging, standing in front of their mirrors at home to just feel comfortable, find their favourites sides and what poses make them look and feel more comfortable. And for their wedding day, my tip would be to try to relax and trust everything to flow as they should on the day.

How do you get everyone to relax for the candid shots?

If it's for the bridal party, I'll spend some time just relaxing and chatting with them about their holidays and plans etc. For guys I'd probably talk about the latest that's happening in sports and likewise for the girls. If it's for the wedding guests mingling, I'll try to avoid being too close by, I have a pretty good zoom lens and I can shoot from a distance with minimal distraction. There's also the part where I'll have some jokes ready to get them all laughing. You've got to be prepared for any scenario. You've got to know how to pre-empt situations.

What is your typical turnaround time?

If it's during our peak wedding season, turn around time is usually 6-8 weeks but if we can deliver earlier we always do. Off peak season will be 1-2 weeks.

Anything else you would like to add?

Taking wedding photos, making a career out of it, having a work/life balance to travel with my daughter and owning my own business by doing something that I'm passionate about has always been a wild dream that's become reality. Anything is possible if you're not afraid to put in the hard yards, believe and keep challenging yourself - you are your own biggest competitor.

Wedding Planner

Darshita Naidu, Outrigger Fiji Beach Resort

How long have you had this role?

I have been with the Outrigger Fiji Beach Resort for five years in this role as a Sales Manager/Wedding Specialist.

What lead time do you require to plan a wedding?

About 60 days. This will allow us to get the wedding documents lodged within the timeframe. Since Outrigger Fiji is a one-stop-shop for weddings, we have the option of booking hair and makeup, photography, videography and entertainment within this timeframe. By this time the couple would have received the confirmed guest numbers and decided on their theme.

What are some of the unique things you can offer?

We only do one wedding per day. There are lots of great photographic opportunities around the resort. We have an amazing chapel named Bure Ni Loloma situated on a hilltop overlooking the ocean. We have dedicated and professional wedding planners and coordinators. There is an option to hire Fijian warriors to escort the bride. The wedding couple also have the option of hiring traditional outfits. You can add a bit of traditional entertainment to your wedding reception such as a meke show, a kava ceremony or a Polynesian fire show. We can cater for all dietary requirements.

What are the main benefits of getting married at your resort?

We have an alternative wet weather option for the ceremony and the reception, at no extra cost. We do one wedding per day. Our venue for the wedding ceremony and reception is secluded and private. We have five restaurants offering a variety of different cuisines. There is no minimum guest stay required if you book our all-inclusive wedding package. Couples who book our all-inclusive wedding package for November to March will receive a bonus honeymoon accommodation at Castaway Island Resort.

What do you enjoy most about your job?

I am passionate about weddings, as this allows me to be part of the joyous moments of the couple and turn their dream into reality.

What are the top three things a planner needs to find out from a couple?

1. Set a budget
2. Outline the priorities
3. Decide on a theme

What are some of ways you can personalise a wedding?

Bonbonniere, Songs, Cake topper, Guest book, Signage, Theme

What's the best advice you would give a couple?

Booking your destination wedding with Outrigger Fiji Beach Resort assures you that you are in great hands, and our wedding professionals will be at your service to turn your dream into a reality.

As we are a wedding destination, we want the planning process to be less stressful, but exciting at the same time, during the build-up to the wedding ceremony. On the day, sit back, take it all in and see everyone having a great time celebrating your big day.

What's your key tip to avoiding wedding day stress?

Have a wedding day itinerary ie, the time for hair and makeup, the ceremony, pre-dinner drinks and group photographs, the reception, cake cutting, speeches and entertainment. Have a planned schedule for family photographs to ensure everyone is included. Allow flexibility if the venue needs to be relocated due to bad weather, or if the bride needs a little extra time before the ceremony. Trust your wedding coordinator.

Do you have any memorable or unique wedding stories you can share?

Every wedding is unique in its own way and tells a story. We have had couples who have waited years to have their dream destination wedding. Some choose to renew their vows in a form of wedding, as they didn't get to have a proper wedding.

We also have couples who are eloping or just want a commitment ceremony. Regardless of whether you want a small or a big wedding, the team ensures we make your dream come true.

#OUTOFTHEORDINARY

James and Jo Leslie

Hilton Fiji Beach Resort and Spa, Denarau, Fiji

What inspired you to have a South Pacific island wedding?

We wanted to have a small wedding with just our closest friends and family, so going away and enjoying a holiday together at the same time seemed perfect. It was also significantly more cost-effective than having a wedding in Auckland.

The warm weather was also inviting. Jo really wanted an outdoor reception, which is a bit risky in Auckland.

What made you pick that specific island?

We got engaged in Fiji on a trip to celebrate our anniversary, so it was fitting we went back there to get married.

What made you pick that specific resort or other wedding venue?

We chose Denarau to make it easy for our guests who were travelling to be there, some only for a long weekend, so they didn't have to worry about long transfers or ferries. We wanted to maximise their relaxing time and get straight to Fiji time.

What were some of the advantages of getting married in the islands?

Relaxing, good weather is almost guaranteed. We got to have a holiday at the same time with all our closest friends and family. We got to work on our tan before our honeymoon!

Did you stay on the same island for your honeymoon?

Jo and myself, along with some family members, went up to Fiji a few days earlier and had two nights at Yatulé Resort & Spa (Natadola Beach) and a relaxing few days before travelling up to Denarau.

What did you love most about getting married in the islands?

The relaxed island vibes. It was nice to have a low-key outdoor ceremony and reception on the beach, under the stars. Our photographs (by Nadi Bay Photography) are amazing, and the beautiful setting certainly helps.

What were some of the special touches that you could only get in the islands?

Our package included Fijian serenaders to entertain our guests as they were gathering before the ceremony. Fijian hospitality - they were always smiling and nothing was too difficult.

What was the most romantic time or place you had during your honeymoon?

The Hilton gave our room a "honeymoon turndown" with rose petals on our wedding night.

How was the dining and catering?

The food and beverage manager Tia was amazing on the night and nothing was too difficult. We chose a barbecue buffet for the wedding dinner, which was included in our package. There was plenty of food and all our guests raved about the quality.

Looking back, was there anything you would do differently?

We wouldn't change a thing - we had a great time.

If you had a friend planning an island wedding, what would your top five tips be?

1. Don't worry about Fiji time. Some things seem to be in slow motion but on the day it all pulls together.
2. Make sure the people you really want there are able to travel. (We may not have done a destination wedding if my 80-something year old Nana was not able to travel. It meant everything for us to have all the family there.)
3. Check in with your photographer – ours suggested changing the time of the ceremony to make the best use of the sunset for photographs.
4. Work out what your priorities are and focus on those. We wanted to have a live band, good food and an open bar! We weren't as worried about the cake etc, but it turned out amazing. (The Hilton pastry chefs made it. There was more than enough and we had leftovers for breakfast! We gave the rest to the staff to enjoy).
5. If you can, plan a fun activity before the wedding. We planned a day trip to Malamala Beach Club for everyone who wanted to come, which turned out to be nearly the whole group. Everyone had an awesome time and got to know each other better, if they didn't already. Malamala is amazing and a short boat trip from Denarau, so it was ideal!
